

I understand that the FCC wants to overturning New Jersey's 'Do Not Call' law because it is more stringent than the federal program. I feel this is inappropriate.

My expertise is in the healthcare industry. Currently state regulations can supersede federal law in reference to Title 21 of the Code of Federal Regulations section 1300 and the Controlled Substances Act. Both state: In event of conflicting regulations, the more stringent regulation applies.

Please explain why this same logic can not be applied to the FCC and the New Jersey's 'Do Not Call' law. Thank you.
